One Cent Damage For Alienated Affections.

NEW LEXINGTON, O., March 26.—The case of Koons against Orison, a suit for damages for alienated affections, the wife of George Koons, came to a close to-day, the jury rendering a verdict for one cent damages. Koons was the only daughter of George W. Orison and wife, and after living together something over a year in the home of the young wife's parents, the couple became estranged from some cause, and Koons was ordered from the house. The young wife sued for a divorce, but failed to get it. Much sympathy is expressed for Koons, who appears to be in great grief on account of the loss of her husband and child. "Give me my wife and child and take all the money," Koons says has been his position all the way through the trial. The trial lasted four days, and was the most celebrated case ever tried in the county.

Mysterious Death and Burial.
SOMERSET, Ky., March 26.—A Mrs. Reid of this county, was found dead in her bed one morning last week. Her parents were sent for, and on their arrival preparations were made to bury her. While preparations were being made her husband suddenly changed the time specified for her interment, and had her buried rather suddenly. Some cause for foul play exists, and the brothers and father of the woman say they are going to have the body taken up for examination. Friends who saw the corpse said there were indications of strangulation, as the throat was bruised. The deceased lived a hale two months old, and three other children.

A Story About Two New York Papers.
NEW YORK, March 26.—The Telegram prints a rumor of a prospect that the Tribune and Journal may be merged and called Tribune-Journal. The rumor is manifestly absurd, and probably was inspired by a spite against the Tribune in the Herald, of which the Telegram is only an afternoon edition. The Telegram says that the Tribune is in a position of material advantage to both papers, giving the Journal the Associated Press franchise, and enlarging the circulation and influence of the Tribune, the hypothetical concern then being a formidable rival of the Sun.

David Davis Will Act With the Republicans.
BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 26.—Prominent Republicans in the State seem content that ex-Vice President Davis will act with the Republican party during the approaching Presidential contest, and the report that the leadership of the Illinois delegation to the National Convention would fall to him seems to be well-founded. Senator David Davis, since his retirement from public life, has very little to say regarding politics, but it is almost certain that he intends to act with the Republicans in the Presidential contest, and that the Democrats cannot claim his support in the fight.
